

A small Town with a big Heart

People are bound together and firmly united by those qualities of the extended family. Family life is considered as the foundation of a healthy community whose values are observed and cherished.

Mellieha is a small town but known to everyone as the city with a big heart. The present people of Mellieha are a modern community that enjoy the healthy heritage which their ancestors so laboriously constructed over the past years. The big majority of the community still appreciate and treasure their upbringing founded on Christian principles, which are deeply integrated in their character.

They are bound together and firmly united by those qualities of the extended family. Family life is considered as the foundation of a healthy community whose values are observed and cherished. It is a small town where people live and hope for a continued economic development leading to increasing wealth. Such progress will only be maintained if nothing erases our stable character, or changes our indelible identity. Our love for education and culture must endure.

The visitor finds a warm welcome everywhere. Communication is very easy. Languages, such as English, Italian, French and German are easily understood and spoken. Visitors may also move around, day and night, with peace of mind securely and safely.

Mellieha offers also places of leisure and recreation in a healthy, clean and orderly environment.

*Top photo: "La Vittoria" Band Club, during a concert.
Bottom photo: "Imperial" Band, during a band march.*